

So all this stuff is linked through blocks?

The “Building” Block

The records that the network accepts are added to a block. Each block contains a unique code called a hash. It also contains the hash of the previous block in the chain.